TWENTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Having reminded the apostles and the crowd that facing the coming judgment takes patience, Jesus now goes on to speak of how difficult it will be to wait. He tells them that he has come to set the earth on fire. Recall that in chapter 3 of Luke's Gospel, John the Baptist tells the crowd that he is baptizing with water, but someone mightier is coming who will baptize with the Holy Spirit and fire. The fire Jesus speaks of here is the distress caused by the coming judgment. It is also the fire of the Spirit that Luke, in the Acts of the Apostles, will describe descending on the disciples on Pentecost. That fire will strengthen them to go out to the whole world to preach the good news of Jesus' Resurrection.

Jesus will be the first to experience the distress of the coming judgment. His baptism will be the conflict into which he will be immersed as he approaches Jerusalem and his death on the cross. His followers will not be spared that distress. Here Jesus tells the crowd not to think he has come to bring peace; he has come to bring division. Peace is the ultimate end of the Kingdom of God, but peace has a price. Jesus is warning the crowd that wherever the Word of God is heard and acted upon, division occurs. Fathers will be divided against sons and mothers against daughters.

The coming judgment forces us to look at the implications of our commitments. As Jesus warned in last Sunday's Gospel, a commitment of faith requires us to change our attitude toward material possessions and to take even more seriously our moral responsibilities. Here he reminds the crowd that those who commit to him will find it affects the way they relate to friends and family members. The angel who announced the birth of John the Baptist to Zechariah said John would go before Jesus to turn the hearts of fathers toward their children. But a commitment to Jesus forces us to change the way we live our lives, and this can put strains on relationships.

We don't expect to hear such difficult words from Jesus in the Gospel. But it is good to be reminded once in a while that the decision to do the right thing, the good thing, is not always easy and without conflict. Jesus himself did not make easy decisions and avoid conflict. In today's reading, he reminds his followers to be prepared for difficult decisions and conflict as well.

DIOCESAN BANKRUPTCY

You will have heard in the local news that an agreement has been reached in the bankruptcy action of the diocese. It has been a long process, partly due to COVID-19. The plan still must be approved by the court before it is finalized. While the primary party to the case has been the Diocesan Administrative Offices, all of the Church's entities are affected. In recent years' legal actions have also been filed against parishes and schools in addition to a diocese. With the case finally on the way to being settled by all parties, it is imperative that our parishes and schools be included in the process. We are able to join the settlement by a monetary donation to the fund to be administered by the court and thereby receive protection from any future liabilities. The particular amounts are in the process of being determined and will be shared when known. This has been a painful chapter for those who have been harmed by clergy and laity representing the Church, and for all its members. Our prayers are that this may help bring a measure of peace to all.

Missionary Cooperative Collection 2022 Archdiocese of Imphal, India August 20 & 21, 2022

The mission diocese of Imphal in Northeast India is home to 34 tribes of Mongolian origin. The first Catholic baptism in the diocese was recorded in 1952. The Catholic population has grown to 10,128 now. The diocese has 45 parishes, 8 Mission Centers, and 174 priests including 114 indigenous tribal priests. The growth of the Church has always been accompanied by various challenges and persecutions during the past decades. Between 1990-2001, six of our young missionaries were killed for witnessing the gospel.

Besides direct evangelization, the Church is actively involved in the everyday life of the people through other forms of apostolate like education, health care, self-help programs, rehabilitation of the sick, drug addicts and orphans. Much remains to be done for this interior and underdeveloped region through your participation and generous support.

In spite of the many challenges, missionary efforts are yielding an increase in vocation to priesthood and religious life. The proceeds of the 2022 Mission appeal will be used for providing food, safe drinking water facilities, primary education of tribal girls and health care for the rural tribal population in the newly established parish of St. John in Nungba. We look forward to your generous support for the implementation of this humanitarian project. Rev. Paul Ngaoni representing the Archdiocese of Imphal will speak at all Masses the weekend of August 20 & 21.
